

Proposer's Day Conference

IARPA Reynard Program

- SRI International is a not-for-profit organization, corporate headquarters in Menlo Park, CA
- Team Members
 - John Murray (PI/Senior Principal Scientist)
 - Anna Eikelbarner (Systems Engineer/Project Leader)
 - Edward Dieterle (Education Researcher)
 - Kavita Seeratan (Research Social Scientist)
 - William Mohr (Business Development)

SRI's VW Research Interests

Tapped IN (NSF)

River City (NSF)

Harnessing Virtual Worlds for Arts and Humanities Research (The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation)

SRI's Qualifications & Capabilities

Qualifications

- Application of advanced qualitative and quantitative methods to inform
 - Design-based research
 - Evaluation
 - Assessment
- Intelligence community subject matter experts
- Cultural, language, and speech expertise
- Data management expertise for guaranteed privacy and anonymity
- Cognitive modeling and human-machine interaction

Capabilities

- Design, development, study, and evaluation of interactive and immersive technologies in juvenile and adult learning contexts
- Project management, planning, and scheduling
- Large-scale social science investigations
- Designing for and studying technologies intended to scale

Teaming

- SRI
 - Well-rounded history of investigation, design, and management with regard to VWs
 - We are not industry-leading VW developers
 - Interested in teaming with others who have complimentary interests, nationally or internationally
- We want to bring a dynamic and positive team together for the Reynard Program!

SRI Contact Information

John Murray, PhD FIET
Senior Principal Scientist
SRI International
john.murray@sri.com
(650)859-5186
<http://www.sri.com/>

Ed Dieterle, Ed.D.
Education Researcher
SRI International
edward.dieterle@sri.com
(703)247-8536
<http://www.sri.com/>